LARGE GAS BAG BEING INFLATED

Tony Nassr May Make Trial Flight
Over the City in Air Ship
Sunday.

HE HEARS CRAZY QUESTIONS

People Wonder How he Rides Where he Sits, and if he Takes Tent Up.

Come take a trip in my airship
Come take a sail around Mars.
We start from the county fair grounds
Smoking doll-rack, nerve-racking segars.
Come take a spin with young Nassr
Look down on all of mankind.
Get close to heaven for once
Get off of the earth—and its grind.

If you see an air ship flying over the city Sunday do not be frightened.
Tony Nassr will simply be taking a pleasure ride for Sunday afternoon entertainment.

He began generating gas at the fair ground this afternoon and there were several interested spectators.
The large gas bag will hold 13,000 cubic feet and it usually takes about twenty-four hours to fill it. The gas is made from sulphuric acid and iron and steel filings. Mr. Nassr says he will use about 10,000 pounds of sulphuric acid and five tons of filings.
The bag will generally remain inflated
about two weeks when no accidents are encountered. However, it is necessary to release the gas whenever the craft is shipped.

The air ship is attracting more attention than any feature ever engaged for a county fair here. People surround the odd looking craft and keep Mr. Nassr busy answering questions. And of all the questions any man ever had to answer, he has them. That is he hears them.

"Where does he ride?"
"Does he take the tent up with him?"

"Sure he takes those tanks up with him and makes the gas while he is up." (The tanks only weigh two thousand pounds.)

"How in the world does he get that thing out of the tent?"
"Does he sit on top of the bag or does he hang underneath?"

These and a hundred more questions Mr. Nassr hears every day.
Where the aviator sits, is the thing that worries many people, and to settle the thing Mr. Nassr says he just sits all over the frame-work.
He says he is never in any one place ten seconds at a time. The craft is propelled by a four cylinder sixteen horse power engine which weighs only 142 pounds.

Mr. Nassr expects to make a flight around the court house tower and may do this on his initial trip which will be made either Sunday or Mon-

CARRIERS ARE UP IN ARMS

Two Rural Route Men Say They Have Beat Aultman's Record.

The rural route carriers are up in arms and say George Aultman did not make record breaking time on his route, when he went in an automobile one day this week. Two other carriers claim better time, one, that he holds the record. Lou Kennedy on route six says that he covered the distance in one hour and twenty-two minutes in Will Joyce's machine and made sixty stops. Lew Cline on route nine says that he made his route once in an automobile in one hour and forty minutes.

FOOT SEVERELY BURNED BY IRON

Chester Tucker Stepped in Trench of Molten Metal at Foundry
Yesterday Evening.

PENETRATED TO THE BONE

Chester Tucker, who is employed at the Madden Bros. foundry stepped in a trench of hot iron yesterday evening about five o'clock and suffered a severely burned foot. The men were moulding and Tucker had stepped out of the room, where they were working for a few minutes. They did not have enough moulds to fill with the molten iron and poured some of it in trenches in the dirt floor. Tucker returned to the room, not knowing that the iron had been placed on the floor and stumbled into one of the trenches with his right foot.

The burn is very serious, penetrating through the flesh to the bone, and will probably keep him from his duties several weeks. Tucker is a brother of George Tucker, machine operator at the Vaudet theater, and obtained the position at the foundry
last Tuesday while on a visit here.

IMPROVEMENT TO BE MADE

City Council Met to Hear Objections to Pavement in Ninth Street.

The members of the city council met in extra session last night to hear objections to the proposed improvement in West Ninth street. No remonstrators made their appearance and the pavement will be built as was first planned.

PATHETIC PLEA FOR SICK BABY

Kentucky Stranger in Distress Works on the Sympathies of Many Rushville Women.

ASKED POTATOES AND CORN

And Then the "Sick Babies," Nine Husky Men, Drive Away With
the Proceeds.

"Lady, won't you please give me a little something to help my sick baby.
We are from Kentucky and we are without funds. My poor little darling is sick and starving to death." This was the plea a fairly well dressed woman made to several housewives
in the northeast part of the city this morning. She talked between sobs and her story was pathetic.

Sympathetic mothers could not resist the heart rending plea of another mother in distress and provisions were given. One woman gave a half peck of potatoes although she did not exactly see how they could help a sick baby. The stranger in distress also asked for corn—another good food for sick babies. But nevertheless the provisions were forthcoming.

The husband of one of the sympathetic mothers followed the stranger down town. Near the business section she was joined by several others, all carrying provisions. He followed them until they went behind the jail. Soon several wagons drove out. The women were in them, and the "sick babies" were driving. The husband of the sympathetic mother wanted to get his potatoes back, but he thought the nine "sick babies" looked a little too big for him to handle.

RACE HORSES IN EARLY

Stalls Are All Filled and Entries Have All Been Made.

The race horse stalls at the fair grounds are all filled and the barn managers are beginning to make arrangements to place more which are expected. This is something unusual as the stalls were never all taken before so early. All of the races on the program have been filled.

TIMELY SONG HIT.

"We Two in an Aeroplane" is the title of the Daily Republican's song published on page three of this issue.
Try it for it is one of the latest song hits.

DIVORCE RECORD IN THIS COUNTY

One Decree of Separation For Every Nine Weddings in the Last Three Years.

BETTER THAN STATE AVERAGE

Number of Marriage Licenses Granted Shows Heavy Decrease in Last Three Years.

Although there are enough—too many in fact—divorcees granted in Rush county in a year, the average for the last three years is below the average for the State at large. The average for the State is about six marriages to every divorce, but in Rush county the average is almost nine marriages to every divorce.
That record is nothing to be proud of,
but yet it shows a better condition
than prevails generally in the State.
In 1906 there were 193 marriages
and twenty-eight divorces; in 1907, 177 marriages and 11 divorces; and in 1908, 140 marriages and 18 divorces. It is a noticeable fact that there has been a large decrease in the number of marriages in the last three years, and at the same time the divorce suits have decreased, and almost in the same ratio.

In addition to the eighteen divorces granted in 1908 two cases were taken under advisement, three were dismissed, and four were refused, and two took a change of venue.

MATINEE RACES DREW GOOD CROWD

Events Were Closely Contested and Showed Some Promising Material.

FOR ROAD RACES AT THE FAIR

The weekly Saturday afternoon matinee races were pulled off at the fair grounds this afternoon. They attracted unusually large crowds and a great amount of interest was shown in the event. The races were closely contested and promised some good material for the country road races at the fair next week. Frank Jones officiated as starter and is also promoter of the races.

The port of Rosario, Argentina,
has a grain elevator capable of loading one thousand tons an hour. Its

THEY WANT WATSON AGAIN

Fairfield, Iowa, People Pleased With Rushville Man's Address.

Word has been received here from Fairfield, Iowa, concerning James E.
Watson's speech at the Chautauqua there. The manager says they have had large crowds all the way through but that Mr. Watson drew the largest crowd of the week. "He took the crowd by storm and people here are determined to have him back next year," is the closing sentence of the letter.

LOCAL MAN BUYS ANOTHER STORE

Roy Jones Purchased Fair Store at Greensburg—Will Start Series of Business Houses.

MANAGED BY WORTHINGTON

Roy Jones emphatically denies the story to the effect that he will move to Greensburg and says that this is to be his home and that he intends to remain here. The Greensburg News says of his recent purchase there:

The Fair store, owned by Frank L.
Herrington, was sold Thursday to R. H. Jones of Rushville. Mr. Jones
owns the 99 cent store of Rushville, and is a very successful merchant. He is to reside in Greensburg and it is understood that he will start a series of stores in this part of Indiana, the local store being the chief one.

The store for the present is to be managed by John Worthington, a clerk at the Rushville establishment.
Mr. Herrington, it is said, will seek a location in Michigan.

ACCIDENT PROVES FATAL

Bolt Flies From Traction Engine Killing Elbert Woods.

Elbert Woods, 21 years old was almost instantly killed about 6 o'clock
Thursday evening near Knightstown,
when a bolt on the drive wheel of a traction engine he was driving flew off, striking him squarely in the forehead.

Woods was going up what is known as Maxwell Hill, about three miles west of there when the accident occurred. His only companion was a little boy, who succeeded in stopping the engine, but Woods was dead before assistance could be secured.

MARRIAGE END OF BRIEF COURTSHIP

Miss June Henley, Whose Wedding Occurred Monday Met Husband
at House Party.

ONLY VERY SHORT TIME AGO

Young Married Couple Are Now on Their Way to Europe For a Short Honeymoon.

Judge W. J. Henley of Chicago was here today on his way down to his camp near Moscow. Mr. Henley came down from Chicago, where his daughter, Miss June Henley, was married last Monday morning. Miss Henley has many friends in this city who will read with pleasure the story of her romantic courtship and marriage.

The Defiance Express says of the brief romance and the subsequent marriage:

When the Twentieth Century Limited left Chicago over the Lake Shore railroad this afternoon, it carried two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. William Carl Kettenring, who were united in marriage but a few hours before, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Henley, 6565 Harvard avenue, Chicago. The bride was Miss June Henley, who was the guest at the house party in this city last month at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. William A. Kettenring. The groom needs no introduction to the people of Defiance for he has spent his twenty-one years of life amongst us.

While the coming of this event was known to a goodly number of the friends of the family, in this city, and also to some of the friends of Miss Henley in Chicago, still the announcement of the wedding will prove an agreeable surprise to many of the less intimate friends or acquaintances of the contracting parties. The engagement has been a short and romantic one, having been announced but a few weeks ago, at the close of the house party given by the parents of the groom in honor of Miss Ruth Hoffman of this city, who was a classmate of Miss Henley at Mount Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C., where the latter young lady was a recent graduate.

The marriage ceremony took place at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, being performed by the Rev. Townsend of the First Episcopal church, and attended only by the immediate members of the two families concerned.
While a quiet affair it was none the less pleasurable and was attended with ideal weather. The bride was attired in a traveling costume and the groom wore the conventional dress for a home wedding. They were at-

Good Old Rush County Fair==Place of Renewing Friendships of Years Gone By

"How many days are you going to the fair?"

It's an old question and has been asked thousands of times in the last fifty years. But it has been asked just as many times this year and it will probably be asked just as many times next year. And perhaps you will hear the answer "Every fair
day" with as much regularity as ever heard it before.

There is a sentiment about the county fair that makes it a kind of sacred institution in the minds of people who have lived in the county for several years. Each year you hear somebody say that he does not think he will ever go to another fair, because it's so tiresome and hot and dusty. But that same fellow will be the first to say he is going every "fair day" when the proper time rolls around.

And why does he go? Because he has a good time and enjoys it. It is not force of habit. It's because he likes to go.

The Rush county fair is a place of reunion. There old friends meet and shake hands for the first time in twenty years, perhaps forty. Stop for a minute and think how many people who are coming from hundreds of miles to be at the fair next

Prospects For Fair Brighter Than Ever

The Rush county fair of 1909 which begins next Tuesday has every indication of being the best ever given in the county. Now there are more attractions on the ground than ever before on Saturday, and Secretary William L. King has arranged for many shows for the week. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the fair will be the air ship in which A. M. Nassr will make daily flights. The ship is in the small ring which this year will be known as the Midway. Practically all the shows will be placed in this ring and the stock will be shown in front of the large grand stand. The Rushville band will furnish music two days and on Friday the Indianapolis News Newsboys' band will furnish the music. The race program this year is one of the best in years. All together the fair will in truth be the best, biggest and fairest fair ever held in good old Rush.

week. Oh, you say they are not coming for the fair. Possibly not, but they did a lot of planning in order to get here the week of the Rush county fair, for they knew how many friends they would see for the first time in years.

And there are people right here in this city, all of one mile from the fair ground, who will tell you they don't think they will go to the fair next week. But they will. Yes, they will go if they have to hire somebody to work for them. Hay fever patients think it will not be good for them to go, because of the dust, but mind you they will be there and have as much fun out of it as anybody.

And after all why not. Think of the pleasure, the genuine good time,
the amusement, the excitement you have had on the Rush county fair ground. It is safe to say that there are more pleasant memories centered about the fair ground than any one place in the county. So the mothers will begin to plan the family dinner, fathers will begin to make allowances to the children for the day's spending money, and lovers will begin to make arrangements to go to the picture galleries and buy ice cream cones. The automobiles and horses are being groomed and—well,
all aboard for the county fair next week.

MORE RECORDS GO TO SMASH

Some Great Driving On New Motor Speedway.

A NEW MARK FOR 100 MILES

With His Little Buick Louis Strang Clipped Off a Century in the Phenomenal Time of One Hour, Thirty-Two Minutes and Forty-Eight Seconds—Several Other World's Records Were Likewise Smashed, Substantiating the Claim That the New Track Is the Fastest in the World.

Indianapolis, Aug. 21.—The new motor speedway yesterday afternoon furnished further evidence that the course is what has been claimed for it—the fastest in America—when several world's records were shattered. Zeigler, in his Big Six Chadwick, won the ten-mile free-for-all open event in 8:23.2-10. The former record was held by Chevrolet, and was 8:56½ made the day before.

Several famous drivers appeared in this event, including Oldfield and De Palma, the latter driving a Fiat, but not his famous Cyclone. Oldfield led around the first lap, but had trouble with his car and was forced to withdraw before the completion of the second lap.

Indianapolis cars and drivers carried off high honors. Merz captured a ten-mile race in handy style, with a National. Aitken, also in a National, won a ten-mile race, and Aitken and Merz, in Nationals, furnished the most exciting race of the day when they finished in the lead, separated by inches, in the five-mile free-for-all handicap.

Efforts to lower the mile record failed, although Oldfield, in his Benz, drove a mile in :43.1-5, only one-fifth of a second slower than the record he established the day before.

Records were smashed in a wholesale manner in the final event—one hundred miles. Strang, in a Buick, was the record breaker. He set a new mark for fifteen miles, and for all other distances up to and including the one hundred miles, finishing with a new record for the full distance.

Strang won the race four laps ahead of the others in 1:32:48 5-10. Stillman, Harroun and DeWitt continued the grind in that order. It was the first big race that Strang had won for some months, as he had been particularly unfortunate in being put out by broken machinery. After finishing the grueling contest, Strang stepped from his car and kissed his wife, who was waiting to greet him.

Strang won the race by a margin of 10 miles in 1:32:48 5-10, a new world's record, breaking Burman's former mark of 1:44:00. This time was beaten, however, Thursday, by Chevrolet in the first 100 miles of the 250-mile race. His time for the century was 1:32:18 9-10. This was not a 100-mile race, however, and so the record does not stand.

The 300-mile race for the $10,000 gold-plated automobile is the big event for this afternoon. It is last on the program and there are sixteen entries for the race. Other races this afternoon include a fifteen-mile free-for-all handicap; ten miles for the amateur championship of America; twenty-five mile free-for-all open and a consolation, five miles.

BALLOON RACE SCORES

"The Peoria" Was Winner of the Peoria Air Craft Club Contest.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21.—The balloon Peoria, H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis, pilot, and George E. Smith of Peoria, aide, is the winner of the balloon endurance race in which three balloons started from this city late Thursday afternoon, according to official reports received by President Eugene Brown of the Peoria Aircraft club here. The Peoria landed seven miles south of Dixon, Pulaski county, Missouri, 165 miles southwest of St. Louis, at 11:55 Friday morning.

The Missouri, with Albert B. Lambert as pilot and B. W. Bemis aide, both of St. Louis, landed at Marrison, Ill., about forty miles southeast of St. Louis, between 6 and 9 o'clock Friday morning. The Illinois, the third starter, made only seven miles.

Killed by Blow From Flywheel. Knightstown, Ind., Aug. 21.—Elbert H. Woods, aged twenty-one, was instantly killed three miles northwest of here. He was driving a traction engine when the accident occurred. A set screw on the fly wheel of the engine struck him on the forehead, fracturing his skull.

Richmond Woman Ends Her Life. Richmond, Ind., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Alexander Greenhoff, a well-known German resident, drowned herself in a cistern under the summer kitchen of her home. Mrs. Greenhoff had been despondent for some time because of ill health, and this is the cause assigned.

Business failures for the week were 183, against 219 last week and 236 in the like week of 1908.

AUSTRIA REJECTS MACHINIST'S CLAIM

Says Salvatore Is Not Missing Archduke.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 21.—The Painesville machinist, John Salvatore, is not the missing Archduke John Orth of Austria, according to an official statement issued from the office of Baron Paul Forster, the local vice consul of the Austro-Hungarian government here. The statement says in part:

"The Austro-Hungarian government has absolute and convincing proof that the claim of John Salvatore of Painesville, to be the late archduke is untrue and the public ought to be warned not to give any credence to those false statements for whatever motives or under whatever delusions they may be made."

Salvatore, however, still insists that he is the archduke. He has accepted employment on a newspaper here to write a series of stories of Austrian court life.

HE GOT TOO GAY

Flippancy Led to the Arrest of Extraordinary Counterfeiter.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Dishonor among thieves and flippancy with a dignified station agent of the Louisville & Nashville road are the causes revealed for the arrest by secret service men of John Roberts, the million-dollar counterfeiter, in Shelby county. John Roberts, confessedly chief maker of the spurious notes, was readily located near Simpsonville because the station agent, approached by Deputy United States Marshal Blaydes, remembered that a "fat guy" in alighting from a train with a brass-bound trunk some days before had called him "old sport."

The treachery ascribed is by John Roberts to his brother Marion, who, he says, stole some of the Mexican notes from the trunk and used them to make the proposition to J. M. Fetter & Co., Louisville brokers, which led to Marion's entrapping and capture.

John Roberts, who with his brother is in jail under a $15,000 federal bond, declared that when he had made his "million" he had considered it enough for any man and had, one dark night, sunk the plates from which the notes were struck, in the Ohio river.

The final touch in the carnival of fraud came when a dispatch from New York announced that the alleged headquarters of "the gang" in Wall street was occupied by firms of unquestioned repute who had never heard of the Robertses.

John Roberts examined Mexican money carefully when he was employed as engineer on a Mexican railway, and for the last five years in New York had been experimenting in the making of pesos until his work became almost perfect. Had Marion Roberts shared only the small ambitions of his brother and been content to go with John a week ago to Mexico and dispose of the "million," John declares that they would have been living off the proceeds for years to come.

RIVER STEAMER WAS DESTROYED

Peoria Packet Burned to Water's Edge.

HAPPILY, ALL LIVES SAVED

When the Fred Swain, Between Peoria and Lasalle, Caught Fire, the Captain Ran Her Into Four Feet of Water and the Passengers Were Taken Off in Safety, the Crew Likewise Escaping Safely—Some Thrilling Escapes Marked Perilous Incident on the Illinois River.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21.—Leaving Peoria for Lasalle at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, with twenty-five passengers and a crew of fifteen aboard, the steamer Fred Swain, Captain Verne Swain in command, of the Peoria & Lasalle Packet Co., caught fire off Averyville, a suburb, and was burned to the water's edge after being piloted into four feet of water. No lives were lost. The property loss is estimated at $35,000.

The majority of the passengers were women and children, and once the fire was discovered issuing from a stateroom on the second deck, panic reigned. The gang plank was lowered to enable passengers to board the score of rowboats that had hurriedly been put out from shore, but the ropes burned, letting about fifteen persons into the water. Tom Powers of this city and E. A. Caron of Worcester, Mass., both of whom were on the plank, each saved the lives of two children, carrying the little tots on their backs to old tree stumps to await the arrival of rescuers.

The fire was discovered by a cabin girl, and she at once gave the alarm, but the fire spread with alarming rapidity. Captain Swain, on realizing that all hopes for the vessel were gone, ordered Pilot Martin Huston to beach the boat and instructed his crew to deal out life preservers.

Engineer Casdrider, after attending to his boilers, guarding against an explosion, went to his pumps, remaining there until the flames licked him about the face and body. He finally got into a rowboat, beat the flames from his clothes and managed to get to shore. He was taken to a hospital.

The steamer Fred Swain was one of the finest packets plying the Illinois river, and enjoyed a large passenger and freight business.

ANTROCIOS MURDER

Green-Eyed Jealousy Spurs Farm Hand to Cruel Deed.

Douglas, Ga., Aug. 21.—Affirming that he had rather see her dead than married to another, William McLeod, a farm hand, has confessed to Sheriff Ricketson that he murdered Mattie Graham, a wealthy and refined young woman, whose body was discovered Thursday in a swamp near her home at Hokesboro, Coffee county. McLeod says he sought and found the young woman in a melon field near her home.

Both started back to the house, side by side. Coming to a branch near the house, he let her precede him. When at her back he caught her by the left arm and cut one side of her throat.

She turned and looked him in the face and exclaimed: "Lord have mercy!" the only words she uttered after the attack. McLeod says he continued slashing her throat and cut her in the side as she fell. He stamped her in the face, washed the blood from his knife, face and overalls, and when dry went to the house and ate dinner. His only motive for his crime was that he had rather see her dead than to see her marry Byrd Mobley. His only fear appears to be of being lynched. He does not show any remorse.

Met Death in River.

Burlington, Ia., Aug. 21.—Two women and one man, whose names are not known, were drowned by jumping into the Mississippi river from a burning launch last night. During the exhibition of fireworks on the river the powder on the supply barge accidentally was exploded. A launch containing four people was set on fire and the occupants, in order to escape the flames, jumped into the river. One girl was saved, but the three others were drowned.

Court Fled From Bees.

Columbus, Ga., Aug. 21.—Justice Daniel's court at Shack, in Chattahoochee county was broken up by a swarm of bees being dislodged from the ceiling. During the argument of an attorney the bees dropped and scattered over the crowd. Almost every person present was stung. The magistrate escaped through a window.

The Strike Continues.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 21.—Governor Fort admitted here today that his efforts to settle the hatters' strike had failed. The men have now been out more than five months.

Chilean Railway Disaster.

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 21.—Two trains came into collision thirty miles north of Santiago. Many persons were killed or injured. Both trains were completely destroyed.

TROOPERS CLUB RIOTING WOMEN

Another Sensational Scene at McKee's Rock.

Pittsburg, Aug. 21.—An alleged attempt to set fire to the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company at McKee's Rocks, followed by much disorder when the striking employees of the car company fired several shots at over a hundred new men who were being taken into the works, kept the state constabulary and deputy sheriffs on the alert.

The women strike sympathizers became excited. The amazons, numbering about 500, gathered at the gate of the car plant and threw heavy paving stones over the stockade. A detail of state troopers disturbed the yelling women, who later gathered at another point near the car company's restaurant and resumed their stone throwing. Inside of the restaurant at the time were many clerks and office employees of the plant. Suddenly the windows were shattered and stones began flying about the heads of the men in the place. Again the mounted troopers rode into the crowd of foreign women and plied their riot clubs lustily.

HOPE NOT ABANDONED

There is Still a Chance That the Waratah May Come to Port.

Cape Town, Aug. 21.—The government and the admiralty have abandoned the search they have been prosecuting for the missing steamer Waratah, which left Port Natal July 26 for London with 300 souls on board and since has not been reported. They still have a slender hope that the Waratah yet may be found by reason of the fact that the steamer Menarandra, from Madagascar for East London, is twenty-four days overdue. It has been suggested that the Menarandra may be assisting the Waratah.

Hope of Peace at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—William D. Mahon, president of the International Street Car Men's union, who is expected here today to take charge of the threatening street car situation, is depended upon by the local union leaders and by the officials of the railway companies to bring permanent peace to the disputing factions.

STATE FIGHTING PESKY HOUSE FLY

B. W. Douglass, Entomologist, Says
Insect is Entrenched Behind a Bulwark of Public Ignorance.

IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DISEASE

The fly must go!
Benjamin W. Douglass, State entomologist, is now engaged in an extensive study of the best means of being rid of the common house fly with the recent greatly increased appropriation by the legislature for the purpose of carrying on his work.

"With the control of the common fly," said Mr. Douglass, "we face the most gigantic problem of insect control that has ever confronted mankind. The fly is entrenched behind a bulwark of public ignorance and not until we educate the common people to the realization of the danger which confronts them will we be able to make much progress in fighting this enemy."

"The insect is responsible for more disease and sickness each year than almost any other agency with which we have to deal," added Mr. Douglass.

The State board of health, the State entomologist and the department of public instruction have united in their efforts to rid the State, as far as possible of the deadly insect.

JOHNSON HELD THE RECORD

Former Indiana Congressman Was There with Supple Tongue.

Commenting on the extra exertion required of Congressional stenographers during the recent session devoted to tariff revision, the Washington Star says editorially:

"In the House, Henry U. Johnson, of Indiana, has had no successor as a talker of extraordinary rapidity of speech. And he was both a rapid and a frequent talker. Full of energy and contention, he would rise to nearly anybody on any subject; and once in the possession of the floor, he was not easily dislodged. At last as the quid of that day had it, he talked himself out of his party, and so out of Congress, and nobody has since appeared in the House even remotely suggesting the possession of a supple tongue."

Woodpeckers are Damaging Poles Now

Problem is to Get Them to Return to Former Habit Rather Than to Exterminate Them

Considerable damage is being done to telephone, telegraph and electric light poles by members of the woodpecker family. These birds originally build their homes in the dead or dying trunks or limbs of trees, but for some reason best known to themselves have come to the conclusion that the peeled pole offers better conditions for a home.

They have become so ravenous of late that their depredations are attracting considerable attention among those who are compelled to use quantities of wooden poles. Their activities spread over a wide portion of the United States, notably in the south, southwest and central west. Cedar poles seem to be the ones most frequently attacked. The birds bore into them at any height from the ground and the holes which they make are often two or three inches in diameter and four or five inches deep. Such an amount of wood drilled from a stick of timber which is carrying a load of wires naturally weakens the strength of the line.

It would, of course, not be a difficult matter to exterminate these birds. However, this is not desirable as they are among the most beneficial forms of bird life native to this country because they destroy large numbers of insects which seriously damage age forest and food crops. It seems, therefore, that methods should be undertaken to compel the birds to revert to their former habits of boring rather than to exterminate them.

Frequent inquiries have been made by the forest service in this connection, but the only information to date which the government has been able to obtain is that on casual inspection of treated and untreated pole in Louisiana. In that region it was found that poles that had been impregnated with creosote oil were not attacked by the birds, whereas untreated poles under the same conditions were very severely injured.

Whether or not creosote will prevent such attacks is not definitely known, but the service is investigating this problem, and should this oil prove preventative it will fulfill a two-fold purpose. It will protect the poles from decay and destruction from animal life. In Southern Indiana some members of a traction company thought that they could prevent the further destruction of their poles by filling the holes in the wood with stones. The birds, however, simply drilled around the stones and made conditions much worse. This apparently does not seem to be a means of preventing their depredations.

As a general rule roots extend on each side of a tree to a distance equal to the height of the tree itself.

Scales of Justice Do Not Balance Now

If the kind of justice meted out in the Henry circuit court is illustrated by the blind statue, holding the sword and balanced scales, on the east front of the court house, then those who have in any way been brought under the ban of an indictment had better hie themselves to another county for a square deal, says the New Castle Times.

The statue represents justice blindfolded, and holding in her hand a balanced scale, as a symbol that all shall be treated equal. But the elements have contrived to make it appear as if justice is very one-sided. One side of the scale has been blown away by the wind, with the result that the other side is heavier and the scale stands at an angle.

If the Henry circuit court does not hand out this kind of justice, then the advertisement should be discontinued and the statue repaired so as to depict the fair kind that is handed out.

The Political Outlook.

(New Castle Courier.)

Now that the tariff agitation has reached fruition in the new law, which may more properly, thanks to the interference of President Taft, be termed the Payne bill rather than the Aldrich bill, although a pretty equal mixture of the ideas of the two leaders, the effect of the legislation on the congressional campaign of 1910 becomes a matter for the consideration of the politician.

During the debate Democrats in and out of Congress, and the Democratic press, undertook to make the most of differences of opinion among Republicans. Even now they would have the country believe that the party is hopelessly divided on the tariff question and sure to resolve itself into two hostile camps representing respectively the "insurgents" and "standpatters." All of which is fol-de-rol.

The differences were sharp and clearly defined during the progress of debate, both Republican and Democrats being charged with breaking away from the principles and precepts of their party, and some, in the excitement of argument, for home consumption, using language calculated to make the unsophisticated believe that the orator stood ready with a keen-edged machete to cut the gordian knot of party allegiance.

The truth in disensions were more apparent than real. They never were serious enough to constitute a menace to the Republican party's supremacy in the elections of 1910, by which time they will be forgotten; indeed, at this early date their traces are dimming, and "insurgents," "standpatters," "revisionists" and "progressives," call them by any name you will, are hastening to inform the country that they are all good Republicans and eager for the fray against the common enemy.

Meantime, the Democrats, who entered the contest with nothing to lose and everything to gain by simply standing by the time-honored principle of free trade, broke hopelessly in twain, and the party will not dare to risk agitation of the question for fear of exposing its own discordant condition.

With the tariff question settled for a number of years, and nobody willing to talk about it; with bumper crops at good prices, all lines of industry running full tilt, and labor employed at good wages, and prosperity everywhere, it is hard to see how the Democrats, without trusted leaders, policy or encouragement to make a canvass, can expect to turn the attention of the voters from the business and contentment to consideration of new fads or ideas.

The outlook certainly does appear favorable to Republican success in 1910. The greatest danger probable is over-confidence, which, however, with knowledge of its presence, should be easily overcome by good organization.

Honks From Rushville Autos

Have you seen the youngest and the smallest chauffeur in the city? It's Dwight VanOsdol. He runs his father's machine through the streets with as much ease, care and unconcern as his father and that's not casting any reflection on Dr. D. D. VanOsdol either. Dr. VanOsdol saw the auto races in Indianapolis yesterday. His son, Dwight, was too busy to go for he had to stay at home and take care of his father's machine. He rode and drove the machine about the city, and really his legs are so short he could hardly reach the "foot machinery." But the noticeable thing about his work is the ease and care with which he handles the machine. No bobbles, no dangerous dodging, no speeding, no poking, he just runs it as any other sane person would and he never "slips" a cog.

The dog that adopted an automobile is the story of the dog that makes Poe's jewelry store his headquarters. He is not particularly fond of the people in the store nor are they of him. But he does like A. P. Wagoner's automobile. Where it goes, if he can, and it's hard work to keep him from going too. He prefers to ride, but he is not averse to running. Sometimes, usually in fact, they do not want him to go, but the dog usually goes. Where did he come from—well, he just came and he just stays. The honk of an automobile makes the same kind of a noise to him, that a pork chop does to Wags, the pest of "my nice man."

Imitation Marble Cement Blocks

A Revolution in the Making of Cement Blocks Made Possible by the Use of the Ideal Cement Block Machine

This is truly the age of cement, not because cement is a new discovery, for it is as old as the Roman empire, but because it is only since lately that Portland cement has been correctly made, and because only recently it has been learned how to use it.

The making of cement building blocks for foundations and building houses is an important industry in this country, and many machines are on the market for the making of these blocks. The best machine on the market, however, is the one made by the Ideal Concrete Machinery Company, of South Bend, Indiana, because of the fact that this machine uses the "face down" principle. This principle makes it possible to produce a concrete block with a face of richer material than the balance of the block, making the exposed parts, or face of the block, closer grained and impervious to moisture.

The Ideal machine permits of a facing system, the face being made of a finer material, while the coarser and less expensive material is used for the rest of the block, thus securing the maximum strength at the minimum of cost. Ideal machines, therefore, insure a face of richer appearance, clearer in design, and of less cost of production than any other style of machine on the market.

The construction of the Ideal machine also permits the use of colored concrete for the facing. These features and many others, were immediately recognized, and also it was their first idea to make only enough machines for their own use, knowledge of the importance of their device spread like wild-fire and they were importuned to manufacture and sell this product of their inventive genius.

The proprietor of this paper, on a recent visit to South Bend and as guest of the Chamber of Commerce of that enterprising city, had the pleasure of going through the large factory of the Ideal Concrete Machinery Company, and there saw cement blocks that were truly a revelation to him. Blocks are made by this company with a variety of faces truly astounding. They are made with the variety of face patterns usually seen, but in addition to this, they make blocks in imitation of any kind of stone and all the different varieties of marbles, from the Tennessee marble to the finest Italian marble. Also unique blocks with colored pebble faces and white and colored sand faces. The writer was astounded at the possibilities displayed in the making of cement blocks as developed by this company.

The company also makes a variegated colored cement flooring in many beautiful designs. This flooring can either be laid in new buildings upon a suitable foundation floor, or upon wooden floors in houses already built. These floors are much prettier than Venetian mosaic and can be laid more cheaply and in a larger variety of patterns. The productions of this company have certainly become works of art.

Any one interested in cement blocks, may see a miniature block made by this company, by calling at the Republican office, or by addressing the Ideal Concrete Machinery Co., South Bend, Indiana, any information concerning their products will be cheerfully furnished.

CHAPTER III.

Dicksie.

The wreckers, drifting in the blaze of the sun across the broad alkali valley, saw the smoke of the wreck-fire behind them. No breath of wind stirred it. With the stillness of a signal column it rose, thin and black, and high in the air spread motionless, like a huge umbrella, above Smoky creek. Reed Young had gone with an engine to wire for re-enforcements, and McCloud, active among the trackmen until the conflagration spent itself, had retired to the shade of the hill.

Reclining against a rock with his legs crossed, he had clasped his hands behind his head and sat looking at the iron writhing in the dying heat of the fire. The sound of hoofs aroused him, and looking below he saw a horse-woman reining up near his men at the wreck. She rode an American horse, thin and rangy, and the experienced way in which she checked him drew him back almost to his haunches. But McCloud's eyes were fixed on the slender figure of the rider. Her boot flashed in the stirrup while she spoke to the nearest man, and her horse stretched his neck and nosed the brown alkali-grass that spread thinly along the road.

To McCloud she was something like an apparition. He sat spellbound until the trackman indiscreetly pointed him out, and the eyes of the visitor, turning his way, caught him with his hands on the rock in an attitude openly curious. She turned immediately away, but McCloud rose and started down the hill. The horse's head was pulled up, and there were signs of departure. He quickened his steps. Once he saw, or thought he saw, the rider's head so turned that her eyes might have commanded one approaching from his quarter; yet he could catch no further glimpse of her face. A second surprise awaited him. Just as she seemed about to ride away, she dropped lightly from the horse to the ground, and he saw how confident in figure she was. As she began to try her saddle-girths, McCloud attempted a greeting. She could not ignore his hat, held rather high above his head as he approached, but she gave him the slightest nod in return—one that made no attempt to explain why she was there or where she had come from.

"Pardon me," ventured McCloud, "have you lost your way?"

He was immediately conscious that he had said the wrong thing. The expression of her eyes implied that it was foolish to suppose she was lost, but she only answered: "I saw the smoke and feared the bridge was on fire."

Something in her voice made him almost sorry he had intervened; if she stood in need of help of any sort it was not apparent, and her gaze was confusing.

"I presume Mr. Sinclair is here?" she said, presently.

"I am sorry to say he is not," she said, presently.

"He usually has charge of the wrecks, I think. What a dreadful fire!" she murmured, looking down the track. "Was it a passenger wreck?"

She turned abruptly on McCloud to ask the question. Her eyes were brown, too, he saw, and a doubt assailed him. Was she pretty?

"Only a freight wreck," he answered.

"I thought if there were passengers hurt I could send help from the ranch. Were you the conductor?"

"Fortunately not."

"And no one was hurt?"

"Only a tramp. We are burning the wreck to clear the track."

"From the divide it looked like a mountain on fire. I'm sorry Mr. Sinclair is not here."

"Why, indeed, yes, so am I."

"Because I know him. You are one of his men, I presume."

"Not exactly; but is there anything I can do—"

"Oh, thank you, nothing, except that the pretty bay colt he sent over to us has sprung his shoulder."

"He will be sorry to hear it, I'm sure."

"But we are doing everything possible for him. He is going to make a perfectly lovely horse."

"And whom may I say the message is from?" Though disconcerted, McCloud was regaining his wits. He felt perfectly certain there was no danger, if she knew Sinclair and lived in the mountains, but that she would sometime find out he was not a conductor. When he asked his question she appeared slightly surprised and answered easily: "Mr. Sinclair will know it is from Dicksie Dunning."

McCloud knew her then. Every one knew Dicksie Dunning in the high country. This was Dicksie Dunning of the great Crawling Stone ranch, most widely known of all the mountain ranches. While his stupidity in not guessing her identity before overwhelmed him, he resolved to exhaust the last effort to win her interest.

"I don't know just when I shall see Mr. Sinclair," he answered, gravely, "but he shall certainly have your message."

A doubt seemed to steal over Dicksie at the change in McCloud's manner. "Oh, pardon me—I thought you were working for the company."

"You are quite right, I am; but Mr. Sinclair is not."

Her eyebrows rose a little. "I think you are mistaken, aren't you?"

"It is possible I am; but if he is working for the company, it is pretty certain that I am not," he continued, heaping mystification on her. "However, that will not prevent my delivering the message. By the way, may I ask which shoulder?"

"Shoulder!"

"Which shoulder is sprung?"

"Oh, of course! The right shoulder, and it is sprung pretty badly, too, Cousin Lance says. How very stupid of me to ride over here for a freight wreck!"

McCloud felt humiliated at having nothing better worth while to offer. "It was a very bad one," he ventured. "But not of the kind I can be of any help at, I fear."

McCloud smiled. "We are certainly short of help."

Dicksie brought her horse's head around. She felt again of the girth as she replied: "Not such as I can supply, I'm afraid." And with the words she stepped away, as if preparing to mount.

McCloud intervened. "I hope you won't go away without resting your horse. The sun is so hot. Mayn't I offer you some sort of refreshment?"

Dicksie Dunning thought not.

"The sun is very warm," persisted McCloud.

Dicksie smoothed her gauntlet in the assured manner natural to her. "I am pretty well used to it."

But McCloud held on. "Several cars of fruit were destroyed in the wreck. I can offer you any quantity of grapes—crates of them are spoiling over there—and pears."

"Thank you, I am just from lunch-con."

"And I have cooled water in the car. I hope you won't refuse that, so far out in the desert."

Dicksie laughed a little. "Do you call this far? I don't; and I don't call this desert by any means. Thank you ever so much for the water, but I'm not in the least thirsty."

"It was kind of you even to think of extending help. I wish you would let me send some fruit over to your ranch. It is only spoiling here."

Dicksie stroked the neck of her horse. "It is about 18 miles to the ranch house."

"I don't call that far."

"Oh, it isn't," she returned, hastily, professing not to notice the look that went with the words, "except for perishable things!" Then, as if acknowledging her disadvantage, she added, swinging her bridle rein around: "I am under obligations for the offer, just the same."

"At least, won't you let your horse drink?" McCloud threw the force of an appeal into his words, and Dicksie stopped her preparations and appeared to waver.

"Jim is pretty thirsty, I suppose. Have you plenty of water?"

"A tender full. Had I better lead him down while you wait up on the hill in the shade?"

"Can't I ride him down?"

"It would be pretty rough riding."

"Oh, Jim goes anywhere," she said, with her attractive indifference to situations. "If you don't mind helping me mount."

"With pleasure."

She stood waiting for his hand and McCloud stood, not knowing just what to do. She glanced at him expectantly. The sun grew intensely hot.

"You will have to show me how," he stammered at last.

"Don't you know?"

He mentally cursed the technical education that left him helpless at such a moment, but it was useless to pretend. "Frankly, I don't."

"Just give me your hand. Oh, not in that way! But never mind, I'll walk," she suggested, catching up her skirt.

"The rocks will cut your boots all to pieces. Suppose you tell me what to do this once," he said, assuming some confidence. "I'll never forget."

"Why, if you will just give me your hand for my foot, I can manage, you know."

He did not know, but she lifted her skirt gracefully, and her crushed boot rested easily for a moment in his hand. She rose in the air above him before he could well comprehend. He felt the quick spring from his supporting hand, and it was an instant of exhilaration. Then she balanced herself with a flushed laugh in the saddle, and he guided her ahead among the loose rocks, the horse nosing at his elbow as they picked their way.

Crossing the track, they gained better ground. As they reached the switch and passed a box car, Jim shied, and Dicksie spoke sharply to him. McCloud turned.

In the shade of the car lay the tramp.

"That man lying there frightened him," explained Dicksie. "Oh," she

SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER

Grew a Full Growth of Hair On a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

MEXICO FEARS THE CAMPAIGN

Trouble Promises to Break
Out in the North.

THE REYISTAS ARE ARMING

At Monterey the Supply of Weapons Has Been Exhausted, While Most of the Men Are Carrying Arms in Anticipation of Probable Trouble—Governor Reyes, the Storm Center of the Factionists, Is Surrounded by Federal Troops in the Mountains—Clandestine Masons Lend a New Element to the Situation.

Mexico City, Aug. 21.—"Not a weapon of any kind can be bought here today," says a special dispatch from Monterey. "Half of the men of the town are carrying concealed weapons. Lodges of clandestine Masons, who recognize General Reyes as chief, are preparing a demonstration at Alameda. Trouble is feared."

Special dispatches from various parts of northern Mexico to different publications in this capital all agree that the situation throughout that region is one of much political unrest. General Trevino, the newly appointed commander of the Third military zone, is acting with vigor and decision, and during the past two days troops have been moved quietly and swiftly to places where they will be most needed in case of serious disturbances. The government has the situation well in hand.

The trouble centers about the personality of General Bernardo Reyes, governor of the state of Nuevo Leon and former minister of war in the cabinet of President Diaz. The Reyista party, with branches in every state in the union, has named Reyes as a candidate for the vice presidency, in opposition to Ramon Corral, the incumbent, who has been renominated by the administration party.

Some time ago Reyes left Monterey for the summer resort of Galeana, some miles distant in the mountains. Thursday he left that place for the ranch of a friend. Simultaneously with this last move of Reyes, detachments of federal troops were sent to the mountains, and the latest dispatches say that Reyes is completely surrounded by federal forces. This is believed to be but a precautionary move on the part of the federal government.

Friday was Reyes's birthday, and those who would have him named as the possible successor of President Diaz desired to make a big demonstration. General Trevino, however, curtailed many features proposed in the program. He denied the use of military bands and prohibited the mammoth display of fireworks planned. The meeting was called to take place in the alameda, the public square of the city.

One of the most dangerous elements of the situation, according to the Monterey dispatch, is the alleged called meeting of all the clandestine lodges of Masons throughout the Monterey section. It is claimed that these self-styled Masons have pledged themselves to support Reyes. General Diaz, president of the republic, is a thirty-third degree Mason in the recognized branch of Masonry in Mexico.

The special dispatches say that no general order has gone forth stopping the sale of firearms in Monterey, but that none are to be had at any price because the pawnshops and stores where weapons are kept have sold out their entire stock.

TAFT WILL CROSS LINE

The President Will Put Foot on Foreign Soil in October.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 21.—An invitation to visit Mexican territory on Oct. 16 next has been accepted by President Taft, who will exchange visits with President Diaz of Mexico at El Paso and Ciudad Juarez. Senor Don Francisco Leon de la Barra, the Mexican ambassador, personally conveyed a message from President Diaz to President Taft.

President Taft is looking forward with keen delight to his meeting with President Diaz. He expressed last winter a desire for a personal interview with the man who for so long has been at the head of the Mexican republic. The details of the visit are yet to be worked out. President Diaz first will visit Mr. Taft in the city of El Paso, Tex. Then the president, crossing the international bridge over the Rio Grande, will return the call in the quaint little Mexican village of Ciudad Juarez. United States troops will be gathered at El Paso and Mexican troops at Ciudad Juarez to lend an official aspect to the exchange of formalities.

Georgia Has Another Lynching.

Fitzgerald, Ga., Aug. 21.—Henry Taylor, a negro ex-convict, charged with assaulting Mrs. Josh Vicker last Tuesday and then murdering her and her infant, was yesterday afternoon taken from the sheriff of Wilcox county between Lumpkin and McRae, and lynched.

The Farmers' Union of Alabama has decided to merge all the cotton warehouses in its control.

Reports from the principal cities unite in confirming the revival in trade, says Dun's review.

Rear Admiral William T. Swinburne will be transferred to the retired list next Tuesday on account of age.

Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton shows a total of 2,052,845 against 2,158,797 last week.

Seventy-five work horses in the barns of the Cropper Stable company at Louisville were cremated in a $30,000 fire which destroyed the buildings.

Ideal weather for the harvesting of the new crop of wheat in the northwest caused a severe slump in wheat prices on the Chicago board of trade.

Three Chinamen have been taken into custody at Fort Worth and held under $1,000 bond each on the charge of unlawfully entering the United States.

FAILED TO MAKE LONGEST FLIGHT

Willard Will Have to Try It Again.

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The first attempt of Charles F. Willard to win the trophy offered by the Scientific American for the longest flight by an aeroplane failed because of an accident to the framework of his machine, the Golden Flyer. One of the supports of the rear horizontal rudder was broken in starting and this prevented the vertical rudder from working. After flying in a semi-circle for nearly a mile young Willard was compelled to alight and postpone further attempts until next week. The machine is the one formerly operated by Glenn H. Curtiss, whose record flight of 52 minutes and 30 seconds a few weeks ago Willard is trying to exceed.

CHARLES FOSTER WILLARD.

FOUND PISTOL ON BODY

Evidence That May Have Vital Bearing on Argyll Lett's Case.

Henderson, Ky., Aug. 21.—The attorneys of Argyll Lett, the linotype operator who shot and killed Durwood Denton for writing love letters to his wife, have made another motion before County Judge Ward that their client be released on bond. William H. Klee, the undertaker who prepared the body of Denton for burial, gave out the statement that he found a pistol on the dead man's body and that it was attached to a belt under his clothing.

Lett would probably have been acquitted at his preliminary trial, or would have at least been admitted to bail, if this fact had been known before, it is said. Klee said he made no effort to conceal the fact that there was a pistol on Denton's body, and that he told the coroner about the matter. Congressman A. O. Stanley of Henderson, an able criminal attorney, has been engaged to defend Lett.

Her Ineffectual Sacrifice.

Wildwood, N. J., Aug. 21.—In a futile effort to save the life of W. Brooke Lessig, a well-known Philadelphia lawyer, with whom she was swimming in the surf at Wildwood Crest, Miss Virginia Paul, one of the leaders in the younger set of Philadelphia society, was also drowned in the swift ocean current.

Victim of Pellagra.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 21.—Miss Cecelia Sweeney, aged fifty-two years, a victim of the little known disease pellagra, is dead at the Mercy hospital. The history of the case will be studied at the victim's home, on the eastern shore of the state, and a report made to the United States government.

Shot Himself in Brain.

Indianapolis, Aug. 21.—Charles Peacock, thirty-two years old, despondent over illness, shot himself in the presence of his wife. The bullet went into the brain from a point over the right ear and death came almost instantaneously.
